The Neighborhood

The Barcelona district of Sarrià-Sant Gervasi is, above all, a well-off residential area with prestigious educational and health centers, surrounded by parks and green areas.

The Putget i Farró, also known as El Putxet i el Farró, is a neighborhood belonging to the district of Sarrià-Sant Gervasi, fruit of the union, in 2007, of the two nuclei that currently configure it: Putget, to the north, and Farró to the south. Presided by the small mountain of the Putget, it houses the beautiful park of the same name, created in 1970, and a beautiful garden inside, the Gardens of the Turó del Putget. In an idyllic and tranquil setting, its architecture is characterized by numerous modernist buildings. Well connected by public transport and easily accessible by car.

Ideal for: business school students, families, active, looking for comfort, tranquility and green areas.

Public Transport

FGC: Línea 7, Línea 6;

Autobús: H6, N4, V17, V15, V13.

Minimum stay 1 month (32 days)
